It's a High Quality Sulfur Product at a Very Reasonable Price!

"It has excellent dispersion qualities and leaves no residual in the tank".

Dee Gargus is co-owner of D&M Chemical Co., in Yakima, WA. He and his brother started the business in 1997 but Dee has "grown up" in the industry as his father was in the wholesale chemical business for 40 years. Dee began doing consulting in the hops industry when he was 18 throughout college where he graduated from Central Washington University.

D&M Chemical works with a range of crops including hops, tree and stone fruit, row crops and wine grapes. They began handling Cosavet-DF® a few years ago.

"Our customers have been very happy with Cosavet-DF Edge. It is a high quality sulfur product at a very reasonable price," says Gargus. "Cosavet-DF Edge is great for control of powdery mildew and mites and is applied on tree fruit as a delayed dormant spray."

Gargus continues, "The compatibility characteristics of Cosavet-DF Edge make it a great sulfur option because it can be combined with other products saving the grower time and money to make a separate application. In addition it has excellent dispersion qualities and leaves no residual in the tank."
